PROXY STATEMENT

GENERAL

SOLICITATION OF PROXIES. This proxy statement is being furnished to the stockholders of BMB Munai, Inc., a Nevada corporation, in connection with the solicitation of proxies by our Board of Directors for use at our special meeting of stockholders to be held at The Grand America Hotel, 555 South Main Street, Salt Lake City, Utah at 10:00 a.m., local time, on April 18, 2006, or at any adjournment thereof. A copy of the notice of meeting accompanies this proxy statement. It is anticipated that the mailing of this proxy statement will commence on or about March 24, 2006.

COST OF SOLICITATION. We will bear the costs of soliciting proxies. In addition to the use of the mails, certain directors or officers of our Company may solicit proxies by telephone, telegram, facsimile, cable or personal contact. Upon request, we will reimburse brokers, dealers, banks and trustees, or their nominees, for reasonable expenses incurred by them in forwarding proxy material to beneficial owners of shares of our common stock.

OUTSTANDING VOTING SHARES. Only stockholders of record at the close of business on February 27, 2006, the record date for the meeting, will be entitled to notice of and to vote at the meeting. On the record date, we had 42,198,600 shares of common stock outstanding, which are our only securities entitled to vote at the meeting, each share being entitled to one vote.

VOTE REQUIRED FOR APPROVAL. Shares of common stock will vote with respect to each proposal. The corporation law of the State of Nevada provides that the Board of Directors, without stockholder approval may adopt policies with respect to the issuance of shares to acquire assets whenever reasonably expected to benefit the Company, as proposed in Proposal One. The Board retains the right, without stockholder approval, subject to Nevada law, to adopt policies with respect to the issuance of stock to acquire assets, as well as for other purposes. No such issuances are presently contemplated. While it is believed that the policy for the issuance of shares to acquire assets set forth in Proposal One could be put into effect without authorization by the stockholders, the Board considered it appropriate to obtain approval of such from the Company's stockholders.

Under our Bylaws, Proposal Two requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes eligible to be voted by holders of shares represented at the special meeting in person or by proxy. With respect to Proposal Two votes may be cast by a stockholder in favor or against the Proposal or a stockholder may elect to abstain. Since votes withheld and abstentions will be counted for quorum purposes and are deemed to be present for purposes of the respective proposals, they will have the same effect as a vote against each matter.

Under the NASD Rules of Fair Practice, brokers who hold shares in street name have the authority, in limited circumstances, to vote on certain items when they have not received instructions from beneficial owners. A broker will only have such authority if (i) the broker holds the shares as executor, administrator, guardian, trustee or in a similar representative or fiduciary capacity with authority to vote or (ii) the broker is acting under the rules of any national securities exchange of which the broker is also a member. Broker abstentions or non-votes will be counted for purposes of determining the presence or absence of a quorum at the meeting. Abstentions are counted in tabulations of the votes cast on proposals presented to stockholders, but broker non-votes are not counted for purposes of determining whether a proposal has been approved.

VOTING YOUR PROXY. Proxies in the accompanying form, properly executed and received by us prior to the special meeting and not revoked, will be voted as directed. In the absence of direction from the stockholder, properly executed proxies received prior to the Special Meeting will be voted For Proposals One and Two. You may revoke your proxy by giving written notice of revocation to our Secretary at any time before it is voted, by submitting a later-dated proxy or by attending the special meeting and voting your shares in person. Stockholders are urged to sign and date the enclosed proxy and return it as promptly as possible in the envelope enclosed for that purpose.

PROPOSAL ONE:

RATIFY THE ACQUISITIONS POLICY AND DUE DILIGENCE PROTOCOL ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

All companies engaged in oil and gas exploration and production provide value to their shareholders through the generation of cash flows from oil and gas production and expanding reserves. While increased production activities can increase our proved reserves, over time production activities deplete the oil and gas reserves of our fields. Therefore, one of our continuing objectives ought to be to explore every reasonable opportunity to expand our interests in oil and gas concessions in Kazakhstan.

To date, we have primarily focused our efforts toward increasing our reserves through the exploration and development of the ADE Block and acquisition of an extended territory adjacent to the ADE block. We have established a record of exploration drilling that will continue in the ADE block and extended territory during the next fiscal year.

We believe that it is now an appropriate time to begin focusing attention on the expansion of our business through the acquisition of license rights in other concessions. It will be critical to our long-term success that all potential acquisitions are properly evaluated and analyzed in a logical, systematic and uniform way. We believe that adoption of an acquisitions policy and due diligence protocol will be essential to securing fairness to the Company in future acquisitions, including potential acquisitions from parties that may be related to the Company.

On February 27, 2006 our Board of Directors adopted an Acquisitions Policy and a Due Diligence Protocol (respectively, the "Policy" and "Protocol") to guide management in the acquisition of oil and gas subsoil user licenses from private parties in the Republic of Kazakhstan. The Acquisitions Policy that you are being asked to ratify is set forth below and the Acquisitions Policy and Due Diligence Protocol is attached to this Proxy Statement as Annex A. Our Board of Directors recommends ratification of the Policy and Protocol by our stockholders.

The Policy provides a guideline for determination of the value of a license territory or a single structure within a license territory in two stages that will accommodate the need for flexibility to make acquisition of either early stage exploration territories or more developed territories. Sellers will be paid in connection with each stage or structure, thus allowing both the Company and the concession sellers to have reasonable assurance as to the actual value of reserves being acquire in any license territory acquisition.

Initially, a potential acquisition candidate would undergo an extensive due diligence review consistent with the Protocol to establish a clear understanding of the license territory and the rights and obligations we would be acquiring. Management would also gather relevant data and information to ensure a complete understanding of external factors that could impact the value of the concession, such as tax and financial obligations, legislative and regulatory compliance requirements both in Kazakhstan and the United States, foreign corrupt practices compliance, employment issues, and potential political and market risks.

ACQUISITIONS POLICY

Initial Payment (Stage 1 Valuation and Acquisition Consideration). At the time of an acquisition, we will have completed our due diligence protocols for unproven (plus proven, as applicable) properties. The concession will be valued under a formula that appraises the exploration acreage (generally unproven) plus any field (generally proven) in accordance with their highest and best use, respectively.

The formula includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: dimensions of acreage; quality of existing geological and geophysical data; quality of existing engineering data; extent of existing oil or gas field infrastructure; concession oil or gas field equipment and facilities, including rolling stock; availability and quality of title evidence indicating ownership of the concession; access to pipelines, refineries, gas processing plants, or other relevant facilities; concession preservation costs (taxes, annual rentals, minimum royalty payments); and debt/obligation assumption.

To the extent that unproven property is included within the concession, the parties to the transaction, with the assistance of independent experts, as deemed necessary by the transaction parties, shall use the standards for valuation and apply the relevant methods, namely the sales comparison method, the prudently-expended-cost method and the discounted net cash flow method. The results from each appraisal method shall be reconciled in accordance with the reliability of each result to provide an estimated market value.

To the extent that some proven property is included within the concession at the time of acquisition, the factors discussed below in Stage 2 will be applied to the proven property. Factors will be identified, weighed, and agreed upon in negotiations for each property. The standard methods for valuation of the proven property will be the net present value and, where data is available, the sales comparison method.

The net present value shall be based upon a formula that includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: oil and gas quality; production rates; recoverable reserves; and projected cumulative recoverable reserves as determined by an independent reserve engineer. The valuation will result in a gross future cash flow based upon the price per barrel of oil or mcf of gas from an agreed-upon price index gas as applied to the recoverable reserves.

Net future cash flow is determined by deducting from gross future cash flow, taxes and the costs of lease maintenance. Finally, the net present value of the future cash flow will be calculated by applying a discount rate, which preferentially has been observed from the market or, alternatively, built up from the economics of the oil industry in the Republic of Kazakhstan as agreed between the transaction parties or by an independent expert appointed by the transaction parties to make such determination.

We will tender as the Initial Payment cash or stock or a combination of cash and stock issued to the owners of the concession. To the extent shares of our stock are used as consideration for the acquisition, the number of shares to be issued will be equal to the value of the concession divided by the agreed upon share price. The share price shall be equal to the average closing price of our stock, as quoted on the most senior exchange or quotation medium where the shares are quoted, for a period of time immediately preceding the acquisition date as agreed between the parties, less a reasonable discount, if the shares are issued without registration under the federal securities laws of the United States, as agreed between the parties to the acquisition transaction.

Deferred Payment (Stage 2 Valuation). At the time we complete exploration stage, present our evaluation of the structure(s) to the State Reserves Committee of the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources of the Republic of Kazakhstan and receive approval of our reserves, we will have evaluated the concession structure or structures and will have obtained adequate reports evaluating geophysical, geological, and reservoir data to define the concession structure or structures and the reasonably projected areal extent and characteristics of the reservoir and obtained from the State Reserves Committee approval of our reserves.

Upon receipt of approval by the State Reserves Committee, we will make the Deferred Payment based upon a formula that includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: oil and gas quality; production rates; recoverable reserves; and projected cumulative recoverable reserves (should the concession be expanded), as determined by an independent reserve engineer. If the concession contains more than one structure, each structure may be independently valued for the Deferred Payment.

The valuation will result in a gross future cash flow based upon the price per barrel of oil or mcf of gas from an agreed upon price index gas as applied to the recoverable reserves. From the gross future cash flow, we will deduct the amount of the Stage 1 payment attributable to the structure or structures, the costs of lease maintenance and we will re-evaluate taxes paid at Stage 1 to determine whether an additional deduction for taxes is required.

Finally, the net present value of the future cash flow will be calculated by applying a discount rate, which preferentially has been observed from the market or, alternatively, built up from the economics of the oil industry in the Republic of Kazakhstan, as agreed between the transaction parties or by an independent expert appointed by the transaction parties to make such determination..

We will then pay the Deferred Payment either in cash or stock, or a combination of both based on net present value of the recoverable reserves. As with Stage 1, to the extent shares of our stock are used as consideration for the acquisition, the number of shares to be issued will be equal to the net present value of the concession or structure divided by the agreed upon share price. The share price shall be equal to the average closing price of our stock, as quoted on the most senior exchange or quotation medium where the shares are quoted, for a period of time immediately preceding the acquisition date as agreed between the parties, less a reasonable discount, if the shares are issued without registration under the federal securities laws of the United States, as agreed between the parties to the acquisition transaction.

NO DISSENTERS' RIGHTS

VOTE REQUIRED

The corporation law of the State of Nevada provides that the Board of Directors, without stockholder approval adopt policies providing guidelines to management for the acquisition of assets reasonably expected to benefit the Company, as proposed in Proposal One. By requesting stockholder ratification of the Policy and Protocol, the Board is in no way relinquishing its right, without stockholder approval, subject to Nevada law, to adopt policies and protocols with respect to the acquisition of assets. While we are contemplating acquisition of additional concessions, we have not entered into negotiations with any party. While the Policy and Protocol can be put into effect without ratification by the stockholders, the Board considers it appropriate to obtain ratification of such.

The affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our common stock is required to ratification of the Acquisitions Policy and Due Diligence Protocol.

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" PROPOSAL ONE TO RATIFY THE ACQUISITIONS POLICY AND DUE DILIGENCE PROTOCOL

PROPOSAL TWO:

CONSIDER AND APPROVE ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT TO THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF BMB MUNAI, INC.

We are proposing to amend our Articles of Incorporation to increase our authorized capital stock from 120,000,000 shares to 520,000,000 shares. A copy of the Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of BMB Munai, Inc., that you are being asked to approve, which we refer to in this Proxy Statement as the "Amendment," is attached to this Proxy Statement as Annex B. The Board of Directors has unanimously approved the Amendment and recommends approval and adoption by the shareholders.

In connection with our desire to grow our business and expand our reserves through the potential acquisition of additional oil and gas exploration licenses, we believe that increasing our authorized capital stock is in the best interest of the Company to ensure we have sufficient shares to negotiate potential acquisitions in the future and reduce the likelihood that we would need to again amend our Articles of Incorporation for the purpose of increasing our authorized capital stock, thereby avoiding the costs associated with amendments. We currently have 120,000,000 shares of authorized capital stock consisting of 100,000,000 common shares and 20,000,000 preferred shares. We currently have 42,198,690 common shares outstanding and no preferred shares outstanding. By approving the Amendment, you are voting to increase our authorized common stock by an additional 400,000,000 shares, resulting in total authorized capital stock of 520,000,000 consisting of 500,000,000 shares of common stock with a par value of $0.001 and 20,000,000 shares of preferred stock with a par value of $0.001.

POSSIBLE DILUTION RESULTING FROM INCREASE IN AUTHORIZED COMMON SHARES

We currently have 120,000,000 shares of authorized capital stock. By voting in favor of Proposal Two, you are voting to increase our authorized capital stock by an additional 400,000,000 shares for total authorized capital stock of 520,000,000 consisting of 500,000,000 shares of common stock with a par value of $0.001 and 20,000,000 shares of preferred stock with a par value of $0.001. Except for outstanding options and warrants as disclosed in our previously filed periodic reports, which we currently have sufficient authorized common stock to satisfy, we have no present obligation to issue additional common or preferred stock, and have not yet designated any rights, preferences, privileges or classes for the preferred stock. We have, however, been investigating a number of potential license territory acquisitions. At this time, we have not entered into any binding or non-binding letters of intent or other agreements, nor have we negotiated terms of any acquisition of a license territory with any party, although it is foreseeable that we could enter into a non-binding letter of intent to acquire a license territory prior to the Special Meeting. We will not negotiate definitive terms or enter into any definitive agreement to acquire any license territory prior to the ratification of the Acquisitions Policy and Due Diligence Protocol by our stockholders at the Special Meeting. In accordance with our Acquisitions Policy, we cannot negotiate definitive terms of any acquisition agreement until such time as we have had the opportunity to conduct due diligence in accordance with the Due Diligence Protocol. Therefore, any non-binding letter of intent we might enter into will be subject to the negotiation of definitive terms following conclusion of appropriate due diligence investigation. While we have not yet negotiated the terms of any agreement, nor entered into any binding or non-binding letter of intent to acquire any license territory at this time, based on our investigations to date, we currently have sufficient authorized but unissued shares to complete any of the potential acquisitions we are currently contemplating. The primary purpose for this amendment to increase our authorized capital stock to facilitate the acquisition of new license territories in the future through the issuance of additional shares of our capital stock.

If and/or when we issue additional common stock or any of the preferred stock in the future you could suffer substantial dilution. You would suffer dilution in the book value of your shares if the additional capital stock is sold at prices lower than the price at which you purchased your shares. Moreover, if the Board of Directors in setting the rights, preferences and privileges of the preferred stock determines to grant voting rights to the holders of preferred stock, you could suffer dilution in the percentage of your voting interest in Company matters. You could also suffer dilution if the Board of Directors determines to make the preferred shares convertible into common shares. Similarly, the Board of Directors could grant other rights to the future holders of preferred stock that could be superior to your rights as a holder of common stock.

The following table provides a comparison of the material changes between the current Articles of Incorporation and the proposed Amendment.

PROCEDURE FOR AMENDING ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Provided that Proposal Two of this proxy is approved, the form of amendment set forth in the Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of BMB Munai, Inc. attached hereto as Annex A will become effective upon filing with the State of Nevada.

No dissenters' rights are available under the Nevada Revised Statutes or under our current or the proposed Amendment or the Bylaws to any stockholder who dissents from this proposal.

The affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our common stock is required to adopt the proposed Amendment.

ANNEX A

BMB MUNAI, INC.

ACQUISITIONS POLICY AND DUE DILIGENCE PROTOCOL (For Acquisition of Kazakhstani Oil & Gas Concessions)

ACQUISITIONS POLICY

Company will enter into a Purchase and Sale Agreement and applicable supplemental agreements (collectively the "Agreement") with the acquisition of each Licensed Territory ("Concession"). Each Agreement will provide for valuation of the Concession in two stages. The Stage 1 valuation will commence with due diligence to evaluate unproven and proven (if any) properties and will result in acquisition of the Concession.

The Stage 2 valuation will result from an analysis of exploration data, completion of exploration stage and approval of Company reserves by the State Reserves Committee of the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources of the Republic of Kazakhstan ("Approval of Reserves"). Each Agreement will provide as consideration a first or initial payment ("Initial Payment") to be made at the time of closing the acquisition and a second or deferred payment ("Deferred Payment") to be made at the time the State Reserves Committee approves the reserves. The acquisition of each Concession will stand on its own and will be evaluated and valued on its own merits and not in relation to other Concessions acquired by the Company.

Initial Payment (Stage 1 Valuation and Acquisition Consideration). At the time of acquisition, Company will have completed its due diligence protocols for unproven (plus proven, as applicable) properties. The Concession will be valued under a formula that appraises the exploration acreage (generally unproven) plus any field (generally proven) in accordance with their highest and best use, respectively.

The formula includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: dimensions of acreage; quality of existing geological and geophysical data; quality of existing engineering data; extent of existing oil or gas field infrastructure; Concession oil or gas field equipment and facilities, including rolling stock; availability and quality of title evidence indicating ownership of the Concession; access to pipelines, refineries, gas processing plants, or other relevant facilities; concession preservation costs (taxes, annual rentals, minimum royalty payments); and debt/obligation assumption.

To the extent that unproven property is included within the Concession, the parties to the transaction, with the assistance of independent experts, as deemed necessary by the transaction parties, shall use the standards for valuation and apply the relevant methods, namely the sales comparison method, the prudently-expended-cost method and the discounted net cash flow method. The results from each appraisal method shall be reconciled in accordance with the reliability of each result to provide an estimated Market Value.

To the extent that some proven property is included within the Concession at the time of acquisition, the factors discussed below in Stage 2 will be applied to the proven property. Factors will be identified, weighed, and agreed upon in negotiations for each property. The standard methods for valuation of the proven property will be the net present value and, where data is available, the sales comparison method.

The net present value shall be based upon a formula that includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: oil and gas quality; production rates; recoverable reserves; and projected cumulative recoverable reserves as determined by an independent reserve engineer. The valuation will result in a gross future cash flow based upon the price per barrel of oil or mcf of gas from an agreed-upon price index gas as applied to the recoverable reserves.

Net future cash flow is determined by deducting from gross future cash flow, taxes and the costs of lease maintenance. Finally, the net present value of the future cash flow will be calculated by applying a discount rate, which preferentially has been observed from the market or, alternatively, built up from the economics of the oil industry in the Republic of Kazakhstan as agreed between the transaction parties or by an independent expert appointed by the transaction parties to make such determination.

Company will tender as Initial Payment cash or stock or a combination of cash and stock to be issued to the owners of the Concession. To the extent shares of Company stock are used as consideration for the acquisition, the number of shares to be issued will be equal to the value of the Concession divided by the agreed upon share price. The share price shall be equal to the average closing price of the Company's stock, as quoted on the most senior exchange or quotation medium where the shares are quoted, for a period of time immediately preceding the acquisition date as agreed between the parties, less a reasonable discount, if the shares are issued without registration under the federal securities laws of the United States, as agreed between the parties to the acquisition transaction.

Deferred Payment (Stage 2 Valuation). At the time Company completes exploration stage, presents its evaluation of the structure(s) to the State Reserves Committee of the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources of the Republic of Kazakhstan and receives approval of its reserves, Company will have evaluated the Concession structure or structures and will have obtained adequate reports evaluating geophysical, geological, and reservoir data to define the Concession structure or structures and the reasonably projected areal extent and characteristics of the reservoir and obtained from the State Reserves Committee approval of its reserves.

Upon receipt of approval by the State Reserves Committee, Company will make its Deferred Payment based upon a formula that includes, but is not limited to, the following weighted factors: oil and gas quality; production rates; recoverable reserves; and projected cumulative recoverable reserves (should the Concession be expanded) as determined by an independent reserve engineer. If the Concession contains more than one structure, each structure may be independently valued for the Deferred Payment.

The valuation will result in a gross future cash flow based upon the price per barrel of oil or mcf of gas from an agreed upon price index gas as applied to the recoverable reserves. From the gross future cash flow, we will deduct the amount of the Stage 1 payment attributable to each structure, the costs of lease maintenance and we will re-evaluate taxes paid at Stage 1 to determine whether an additional deduction for taxes is required.

Finally, the net present value of the future cash flow will be calculated by applying a discount rate, which preferentially has been observed from the market or, alternatively, built up from the economics of the oil industry in the Republic of Kazakhstan, as agreed between the transaction parties or by an independent expert appointed by the transaction parties to make such determination..

Company will then pay the Deferred Payment either in cash or stock, or a combination of both based on net present value of the recoverable reserves. As with Stage 1, to the extent shares of Company stock are used as consideration for the acquisition, the number of shares to be issued will be equal to the net present value of the concession or structure divided by the agreed upon share price. The share price shall be equal to the average closing price of the Company's stock, as quoted on the most senior exchange or quotation medium where the shares are quoted, for a period of time immediately preceding the acquisition date as agreed between the parties, less a reasonable discount, if the shares are issued without registration under the federal securities laws of the United States, as agreed between the parties to the acquisition transaction.

Dear Ms. Terry:

This letter will confirm to you that BMB Munai, Inc. (the "Company") is aware that, under Note A to Schedule 14A, if the Company currently has present plans, arrangements, proposals or obligations to issue any of the new shares of common stock, which would be created by approval of the amendment to increase the capital shares of the Company, the Company would be required to provide the additional information called for by Items 11, 13 and 14 of Schedule 14A.

As we have discussed with you and disclosed in the preliminary proxy statement, despite the Company's intention to make acquisitions in the near future, currently the Company has not reached any preliminary or definitive acquisition terms on any specific acquisition or property.

Further, this letter will confirm that the Company has sufficient authorized shares of capital stock available for immediate issuance to accomplish any potential acquisitions it is currently considering, without resort to any new shares that would be created by shareholder approval of the proposed amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of the Company, as described in the Company's preliminary proxy statement.

Since the Company is not relying upon the shareholder decision to increase the authorized share of capital stock of the Company as a condition to
